It isn't practical to provide the full detail of every policy or procedure that may apply to your studies on your Pathway Programme or the services offered by the International College and the University within the text of these Terms and Conditions. You will find several links included within these Terms and Conditions or the documents referred to within them that will allow you to access more detailed information on particular areas. The annotations included in the Terms and Conditions try to explain in plain language some key points. The annotations don't form part of our contract but are designed to help you; there's no hidden small print and we've tried to make sure that our Terms and Conditions are easy to understand and fair.

From here on in, we'll refer to you as “you” or a “Student”, and to these Terms and Conditions set out in Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document as the “Terms”.

Most of the obligations set out in these Terms will be the responsibility of the International College only and the International College will be liable to you for those obligations. Certain obligations will be the University's responsibility only and the University will be liable to you for those obligations. In some cases, both the International College and the University will jointly have responsibilities to you and therefore will be jointly liable to you. ‘We’, ‘our’ or ‘us’ in these Terms, means both the International College and the University jointly.

During your time as a student with the International College, it is our policy to use the email address provided to you by the International College to communicate with you. Please check your emails regularly to make sure you stay up to date.

Changes to Pathway Programmes and/or Degree Programmes

The International College's Pathway Programmes and the University's Degree Programmes are subject to review and development on an ongoing basis. Changes may sometimes be necessary. For example, to comply with the requirements of professional or accrediting bodies or as a result of student feedback or external examiners reports. In addition, the International College and the University also need to ensure that their Pathway Programmes and Degree Programmes are dynamic and current and that the content and structure maintain academic standards and enhance the quality of the student experience. We will only make changes where we consider it necessary to do so and/or where we feel that certain changes are in the best interests of students. Occasionally, we have to make changes for reasons outside of our control. The provisions detailing when we may make changes to your Pathway Programme and your chosen Degree Programme should you Progress and the process that may be involved, are set out in Sections A:13 and A:14 of these Terms.

Part 1 Terms and Conditions in Full

The sections below set out in full the Terms and Conditions governing the Contract between you, the International College and the University. Please make sure you review carefully, and understand your entitlements and obligations as a student studying a Pathway Programme at the International College.

1. What is the Contract Between You, the International College and the University?

At its heart, it is a contract between you, the International College and the University, under which we agree to provide educational services and the facilities for you to study a Pathway Programme at the International College, and you agree to progress those studies at the International College and to abide by these Terms and the regulations, policies and procedures set out in these Terms (we have called this 'the Contract' throughout these Terms).

Whilst studying at the International College, you will be subject to both International College regulations, policies and procedures, and the University's regulations, policies and procedures. These Terms set out which regulations, policies and procedures will apply at different stages of your study with the International College.

You will find further information within Section B of Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document and also at the following link: Policies, Regulations and Legal Notices. These documents are further explained in Section A:6.

Please do read these Terms and all other information provided to you with your Offer Letter (which is described in Section A:3) carefully to make sure you understand what the International College and the University each agrees to provide and what you will need to comply with and do whilst studying at the International College.

It is your responsibility to make sure that all the information you provide is accurate and true.

2. When is Your Contract Formed?

The Contract between you, the International College and the University, is formed when you accept your unconditional offer of a place with the International College, although in order to commence your Pathway Programme you may need to satisfy certain conditions or requirements, as notified to you during the admissions process and/or set out in your conditional offer letter (as described in Section A:3 below). In the event you do not satisfy these conditions or requirements, the International College may take the steps set out in the paragraph below titled 'Your Offer'.

You will also need to enrol with both the International College and the University before the start of each academic year during your Pathway Programme with the International College. In the event you don't enrol with either the International College or the University, you will not be considered enrolled for the purposes of these Terms, and we have the discretion to withdraw you from your Pathway Programme, and terminate your Contract in accordance with Section A:16 below.

Once you have enrolled in your first year, you will be registered for the duration of your Pathway Programme but you will still need to re-enrol: (i) with the University at the beginning of each academic year of your Pathway Programme; and (ii) with the International College at the beginning of each semester of your Pathway Programme. During enrolment and re-enrolment you will be reminded of these Terms that apply to your studies on your Pathway Programme at the International College.

Your Offer

Once you receive an offer for a place on the Pathway Programme, you will receive a letter offering you a conditional or unconditional offer of a place (the "Conditional Offer Letter" or "Unconditional Offer Letter" and collectively the "Offer Letter"). A Conditional Offer Letter will set out the conditions that you will need to meet before being considered for an Unconditional Offer Letter. Upon receipt of an Unconditional Offer Letter, you will receive an acceptance form, which is the form sent by us to be used by you to accept the offer of a place on the Pathway Programme. Your Offer Letter will be accompanied by the Key Facts document – this document is described in more detail in Section A:3. The Contract between us is formed when we receive your acceptance form.

In the event you receive a Conditional Offer Letter, you will need to read it very carefully to see if and what conditions will apply to you. If you need to satisfy any conditions, you may need to fulfil these before a set date or on an ongoing basis and the Conditional Offer Letter will make this clear to you. If you do not meet any such requirements, we may either: withdraw your offer (if you haven't already accepted your Offer Letter), terminate the Contract as described in Section A:16 or defer your application or entry to the next academic year or another start date within the academic calendar. Please note that we may issue you an Unconditional Offer Letter on academic grounds but your offer and enrolment at the International College and the University will remain subject to you meeting any non-academic conditions, such as obtaining a satisfactory Disclosure and Barring Service (or equivalent in your home country) check, occupational health check, or references. The International College will highlight any non-academic conditions within your Conditional Offer Letter. The International College may update its entry criteria year on year so there may be a change in admission requirements for future applications.

Please note, the Offer Letter offering you a place on your Pathway Programme as described in Section A:3, is the same Offer Letter offering you a place on your Degree Programme as set out in Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document. You do not receive two separate Offer Letters for your Pathway Programme and Degree Programme.

3. What Makes Up The Contract?

This section sets out the documents which make up your Contract with the International College and the University. You need to be aware that when you accept your offer, you will be agreeing to these documents including these Terms and the documents signposted to you within these Terms. There may be additional terms and conditions relating to different services available to you during your studies at the International College but we will let you know if that is the case and you'll have the opportunity to read and consider these before you access or use those services.

This Contract is made up of the key documents listed below (we call them the “Offer Pack”). These are:

- Your Offer Letter, and any other document referred to within it, including the Key Facts about your Pathway Programme with the International College (including the core components of your Pathway Programme and the tuition fees) and the acceptance form accompanying your Offer Letter. You will only be able to enrol with the International College and the University if you meet both the academic and non-academic admission requirements. In the unlikely event you have a complaint about the International College's admissions, enrolment or registration process, or wish to appeal a decision, you should refer your complaint to the International College in the first instance. The University's Appeals and Complaints Policy for Applicants includes further information on the grounds for raising a complaint or appeal. Any rights to refunds you may have are detailed in the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College.
- Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document provided with your Offer Letter, including the Terms set out within it. This document provides the key terms, conditions, regulations, policies and procedures relevant to life and studying at the International College and the University. You should ensure you read this document carefully.
- The regulations, policies and procedures referred to within Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document (unless it expressly sets out that a regulation, policy or procedure is 'non-contractual'). You must comply with these regulations, policies and procedures, otherwise you will be in breach of this Contract. There is also a helpful summary of each policy or procedure within Section B of Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders Document and you can follow or enter the link to read the full policy, procedure or guidance. These policies and procedures are relevant to your studies at the International College and the University, so please familiarise yourself with them so you know what to expect.

These Terms are applicable to the provision of educational services for students studying at the International College and the University. The International College and the University may each change and update their respective regulations, policies and procedures as referred to above from time to time, in order to assist in delivering educational services to students. Other regulations, policies and procedures may, from time to time, be approved, in order to assist in delivering educational services to students of the International College and the University or admissions services to applicants. The International College will tell you if there are any new regulations, policies and procedures that you need to comply with.

In addition to the Offer Pack set out above, some Pathway Programmes may require you to:

- a. Agree to supplemental terms and conditions, for example, if you are studying on a professional programme or undertaking a placement (e.g., studying at a partner university or completing a work placement at a partner organisation).
- b. Agree to the terms and conditions of other third parties, such as a financial sponsor or funder, placement provider, professional bodies, accrediting bodies, accommodation provider or relevant third party providers. If there is any conflict between a third party's terms and conditions and your Contract, the Contract will normally take priority. You will also need to abide by a number of terms and conditions relating to access to and use of particular services, for example, those relating to use of library, computing, and information technology services including virtual learning environment access.
- c. Sometimes it might be necessary to change parts of the Contract with you. Where we need to make any changes to the Contract (minor or significant), we will manage such changes in accordance with Section A:13 below.
- d. Once you accept your Unconditional O Letter, there is a "cooling-off period" of fourteen days from the date of your acceptance where you have the legal right to cancel your Contract. Please see Section A:17 below for further information on how to cancel.

4. Duration of the Contract

How Long is the Contract?

The Contract with the International College and the University, as set out in these Terms, will continue for the duration of your study on a Pathway Programme with the International College, unless terminated or extended by you or us in accordance with these Terms. Once you successfully complete your Pathway Programme with the International College and satisfy any other non-academic requirements required of your Degree Programme with the University set out in the Key Facts document, you will automatically Progress onto the University's Degree Programme and the Terms and Conditions set out in Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document will become effective.

IMPORTANT: Further information on how you, or we, can end the Contract are set out in Sections A:16 and A:17.

What Happens If I Defer?

If we agree to defer the start date for your Pathway Programme (it cannot be guaranteed that this will be possible and there is no contractual right to defer), please note we will honour the tuition fees already agreed for your Pathway Programme for a period of one year only but the tuition fees for your chosen Degree Programme and the bursaries or scholarships and services and facilities currently described at the time of your original offer may change (or not be available) for your deferred year of entry to the International College. As an international student, deferring the start date of your Pathway Programme may also affect your visa. It is your responsibility to make sure you fully understand how deferring the start date of your Pathway Programme impacts your visa status. Please refer to the Your Visa, Your Responsibility guide to help you better understand your visa compliance obligations. At the appropriate time, the International College will write to you to provide a new offer for your new year of entry and once published, will provide you with an updated Offer Pack. Your updated Offer Pack will also indicate the University's revised tuition fees payable for your Degree Programme.

Where you have been assigned a CAS by the University and you have gained a student visa on this basis, deferrals will only be approved (at our discretion), where you can provide evidence that:

- (i) you are not in the UK; and
- (ii) the reason for the deferral is supported by documentary evidence acceptable to both the International College and the University.

If the deferral request is as a result of you receiving a visa refusal, the deferral will be subject to the approval of the International College and the University.

5. Your Obligations

Alongside the obligations in these Terms, the University has developed Our Commitment Statement, which will also be applicable to you whilst you study at the International College. The Commitment Statement sets out the intention of the University, and the Students' Union, to work in partnership with you, as a student of the International College and the University, in supporting your learning and helping you succeed, and sets out your own role in ensuring that success, and the standards of behaviour and personal responsibility expected of our students. Although the University would like to draw your attention to the Commitment Statement, it is not intended to be legally binding or to form part of the Offer Pack.

There are some important obligations that you are required to meet under your Contract and these are described below.

Specific Obligations

In addition to all obligations set out within the regulations, policies and procedures that apply to you, you are required to:

- Play a full and active role in progressing your Pathway Programme at the International College and fully engage with any attendance registration or monitoring methods that are put in place by the International College in line with the International College's Attendance and Engagement Monitoring Policy. You should let the International College know if you cannot attend classes or cannot continue to engage with your Pathway Programme for any reason;
- As well as complying with these Terms, all other terms described in the Offer Pack and the regulations, policies and procedures set out within Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document, you should also familiarise yourself with any Pathway Programme specific information provided to you including within any Pathway Programme handbook that is provided to you;
- Comply with all codes, regulations, policies and procedures referred to in Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document and as amended from time to time and adhere to all terms and conditions applicable to use of particular International College and/or University services such as those relating to use of the library or IT services;
- Meet any conditions set out in your Conditional Offer Letter and continue to satisfy these conditions (where relevant) throughout the duration of the Contract;
- Make any disclosures required under these Terms and also provide to the International College any supporting information that is reasonably required. Failure to disclose full information could lead to the withdrawal of an offer of a place, termination of your Contract or discontinuation of your studies;

- Pay all tuition fees and other charges when due. Details of your tuition fees and other charges you can expect to pay are set out in your Offer Letter and the Key Facts document which we provided with your Offer Pack. Please also refer to Section A:12 of this document and the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College for further information on fees and finance;
- Register/enrol with both the International College and the University before the start of your Pathway Programme. You are expected to re-enrol/re-register with: (i) the University at the start of each academic year; and (ii) the International College at the start of each semester, whilst you are studying at the International College;
- Behave in a manner consistent with the University's Student Code of Conduct on campus and within the community;
- Check your emails regularly to make sure you stay up to date. You must ensure that you provide the International College with up-to-date contact information and notify it promptly of any changes in your information;
- Take responsibility for your learning by engaging with your Pathway Programme in a timely manner, attending seminars, tutorials and meetings with tutors, engaging with group learning (where applicable), spending appropriate time on private study and completing all required assessments by the dates set. You agree to participate in any attendance monitoring procedures of the International College and the University and will meet any minimum attendance requirements for your Pathway Programme;
- Act in a courteous and responsible manner during your time as a student and within the community (including whilst on placement or exchange (if applicable)), including taking reasonable care for your own safety and the safety of others. You must comply with any reasonable instructions the International College or the University provides to you about health, safety and security and comply with the wider University's Health and Safety Policy. In particular, we may put in place specific health and safety policies which will apply to you when you are on any of the International College or University's premises (including in its halls of residence) or using any of the International College or University's facilities. Sometimes, we may need to add new policies and procedures or change existing ones quickly in order to respond to an immediate health or safety threat (such as an epidemic or pandemic) or where particular requirements are imposed by (for example) the government or other local authorities or public health authorities. The International College will tell you about any such policies and procedures and will let you know as quickly as possible about any changes to such policies and procedures. We will ask you to comply with these policies and procedures in order to ensure your safety and those of others around you;
- Carry your student identification card with you at all times when you are on campus. You may need to show this to authorised representatives of the International College and/or University and will need this to access a range of International College and University services. You agree to provide the International College and the University with all information and assistance reasonably required to provide you with your student identification card (including providing a passport-style photo which it will put on your student identification card).

In the event you don't comply with the obligations set out above you may face the following consequences:

1. For non-compliance relating to student conduct, you may face action under the Student Code of Conduct;
2. For non-compliance relating to engagement, action may be taken against you under the Attendance and Engagement Monitoring Policy and the Suspension Transfer and Withdrawal procedure; or
3. For issues relating to non-payment of tuition fees, action may be taken against you under the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College.

6. The Regulations applicable to your studies at the International College

You agree to comply with the Terms and all regulations, policies and procedures referred to within Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document provided to you with your Offer Letter. These regulations, policies and procedures are more fully set out below.

Some of these regulations, policies and procedures will be University regulations, policies and procedures, and some will be International College regulations, policies and procedures.

Key Policies and Procedures applicable to your studies

This section draws your attention to certain important or surprising conditions or information about your Pathway Programme of study. We will also let you know in your Offer Pack if there is any particularly surprising or important information.

You must be aware that some of the requirements set out here will form a condition of your offer.

Whilst the International College is responsible for managing assessments and examinations during your Pathway Programme, the Assessment Regulations applicable to your Pathway Programme are the University's Assessment Regulations, accessible from within this Important Information for Offer Holders document.

The following policies and procedures can result in a disciplinary process and ultimately mean you may not be able to continue at the International College. These include:

- Academic Misconduct Policy
- Student Code of Conduct
- Student Complaints Procedure
- Student Transfer, Suspension and Withdrawal Policy

Academic Misconduct Policy

In order to safeguard the International College's academic standards, the International College uses the University's Academic Misconduct Policy for dealing with suspected misconduct. This policy details types of misconduct – such as plagiarism or the purchase of work from 'essay mills' – how suspected offences are investigated, and the penalties that can be applied. The policy also details students' rights of appeal in cases relating to academic misconduct. Minor and major breaches of the policy (as defined in the policy) will be dealt with in the first instance by the International College. Severe breaches and appeals (as defined in the policy) will be dealt with by the University.

Student Code of Conduct

The University's Student Code of Conduct sets out the standards of conduct we require of students at the International College, so that everyone can undertake their studies in a supportive and non-threatening environment. The Student Complaints Procedure sets out the process you need to follow to make a complaint. The International College will deal with matters at the 'informal' stage (as defined in the Student Code of Conduct and the Students Complaints Procedure). The University will deal with matters at the 'formal' stage (as defined in the Student Code of Conduct and the Students Complaints Procedure). Breaches of certain regulations and policies will, where appropriate, be dealt with as breaches of the Student Code of Conduct. Examples include but are not limited to:

- Library Rules and Regulations;
- Student Rules and Regulations for the Use of Computing Facilities;
- Non-compliance with student visa requirements;
- Your terms and conditions with the International College for your accommodation

Further information on these rules and regulations can be found below. The Student Code of Conduct does not deal with academic misconduct which is addressed in the Academic Misconduct Policy.

Student Transfer, Suspension and Withdrawal

The International College has in place a range of guidance and support for students who are uncertain about continuing with their studies, or who are failing to meet the professional or academic requirements of their Pathway Programme. However, there may be occasions where – for a variety of reasons – a student decides that they wish to take time out of their studies or to withdraw, or that the International College concludes a student must be withdrawn or expelled.

The Student Transfer, Suspension and Withdrawal Policy and the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College outline the processes, grounds, implications and the specialist sources of advice available in relation to:

- Withdrawal at the request of a student;
- Withdrawal of a student by the International College;
- Expulsion for intentionally overstaying immigration permission to be in the UK;
- Suspension of studies at the request of a student;
- Suspension of studies by the International College.

Please read the policy carefully as it sets out the circumstances in which the International College may take steps to unilaterally suspend or withdraw you from your Pathway Programme (which may have financial implications), and your rights of appeal. This policy also contains information specific to your student visa status so please read it carefully.

If you are considering withdrawing from your Pathway Programme, always make sure you discuss this with Student Services before you make a formal decision as they may be able to refer you to sources of guidance and support who may be able to explain the potential implications for that decision.

Students should make sure they have fully discussed the financial implications of withdrawing or suspending with Student Services before they leave the Pathway Programme. Any amendments to the amount of tuition fees you are due to pay the International College will be advised by student.services@ic.mmu.ac.uk. Further information on tuition fees in relation to withdrawal, suspension and deferral is set out in the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College. For any queries regarding outstanding fee repayments following suspension/withdrawal please contact student.services@ic.mmu.ac.uk.

7. Progression to your Degree Programme

If you satisfy the general progression requirements applicable to your Pathway Programme set out below and meet any additional specific requirements applicable to your Pathway Programme (if any apply they will be set out in the Key Facts) and meet any non-academic requirements required of your chosen Degree Programme (if any apply they will be set out in the Key Facts) you will be eligible to Progress onto your Degree Programme.

The general progression requirements require you to pass all modules on your Pathway Programme and achieve the following pass rates and criteria:

- Foundation Level 3 - 50%
- Year 1 (Standard Delivery) Undergraduate Programme Level 4 - 40% Year 1 (Integrated Delivery) Undergraduate Programme Level 4 – 40%
 - *Interactive Learning Skills and Communications (ILSC) – Pass
- Pre-Masters Programme Level 6 - 50%

*ILSC criteria listed above is only applicable to students taking this module as part of the Year 1 (Integrated Delivery) Undergraduate Programme Level 4.

8. Criminal Convictions

All students who accept an offer of a place on a Pathway Programme must let the International College know of any relevant, unspent criminal convictions.

Why Does the International College Ask For This Information?

This is to enable the International College to identify, assess and manage the potential risks to the International College community, and/or to offer support where appropriate. This includes considering risks arising of you living in International College or University accommodation.

For further information on what is 'relevant' and 'unspent' please see Disclosure of Criminal Convictions.

Applicants to Regulated Profession Programmes

Certain programmes (particular Degree Programmes) that involve interacting with children or vulnerable adults in regulated activities; and/or require a criminal records check via the United Kingdom's Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) and/or the local equivalent service in your home country, require disclosure of all convictions, including spent convictions, cautions and bind-over orders. Where this applies to you, this is indicated in the Key Facts document provided in your Offer Pack. You will also be asked to declare if you are currently under investigation by the police in connection with an alleged criminal offence.

For such programmes, the International College asks about criminal convictions for the following reasons:

- To determine your suitability including to work in the professional environment associated with your course. The International College may also need to assess whether you would be able to undertake the mandatory work placements required as part of your course;
- To carry out appropriate risk assessments to identify, assess and manage any potential risks to the International College and University community.

Before you start such programmes, you will also need to complete an enhanced criminal convictions check with the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) or equivalent process in your home country. However, you are asked to self-declare at an earlier stage so that the International College has time to collect further information and assess the information provided as early as possible. If you undertake a Pathway Programme or chose a Degree Programme that requires an enhanced DBS check (or equivalent process in your home country), the information you provide at this stage will be used to assess your suitability to undertake your chosen Pathway Programme and Degree Programme, including placements involving regulated activity and, where relevant, to enable discussion in terms of meeting 'Fitness to Practise' criteria.

If the DBS check (or equivalent process in your home country) reveals that you have had a conviction, caution, reprimand, final warning or bind over, the matter will be referred to the University, who will assess your fitness to practise in the profession to which you have applied in accordance with the University's Fitness to Practise \(Students\) Policy. Depending on the outcome of this assessment, we may take one of the steps outlined in the section titled 'Possible Outcomes' below.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I DECLARE A CONVICTION?

If you declare a criminal conviction, in the event the International College requires it, you will be obliged to provide further information.

Disclosure of relevant, unspent convictions will be considered by the University's Risk Panel. For further information, refer to the University's Risk Policy and Procedure for Applicants with Criminal Convictions.

POSSIBLE OUTCOMES

We have the right to:

- Refuse enrolment at the International College and the University and/or to terminate a student's Contract where, following a risk assessment or professional suitability/DBS (or equivalent overseas) assessment our decision is to refuse admission and study at the International College.
- Impose conditions and/or restrictions on a student's offer, admission, enrolment or study at the International College to help manage any risks identified.

We may withhold enrolment and/or commencement at the International College where a prospective student fails to provide appropriate information or pending a risk panel or professional suitability/DBS (or equivalent overseas) assessment.

WHAT IF I AM CONVICTED OF A RELEVANT CRIMINAL CONVICTION AT A LATER DATE?

As from acceptance of an Offer Letter to study with the International College, you must on an ongoing basis throughout your studies declare promptly any relevant criminal charges or convictions. Students will be asked to provide information on any relevant convictions that have not already been disclosed to the International College, at enrolment and re-enrolment each academic year. Please see Disclosure of Criminal Convictions web page for further guidance on relevant convictions.

9. International Students

As you are an 'international' student (that is, a student from outside the United Kingdom) you must read the University's guide on international visas, Your Visa, Your Responsibility, for further information. This document explains the reporting and record- keeping duties of the University as the sponsor of your UK Student Visa. The University will generate your CAS and it will be issued to you by the International College. The CAS is the 'Confirmation of Acceptance of Studies' and is the electronic reference used for students applying for a UK Student Visa which the University, as a UKVI sponsor, must have as part of specific documentation that must be in place before a visa can be issued. It also explains what you need to do during your studies at the International College and the University to protect your immigration status in the UK.

The length of sponsorship on the CAS shall cover the entire duration of your journey leading ultimately to a University award (subject to you Progressing to the University and meeting the UKVI requirements). The University shall not generate or be obliged to generate a CAS unless the University believes the requirements of its UKVI Sponsor Guidance (and any other relevant UKVI criteria for sponsored students) have been met in full.

As an international student you will need the correct visa to study and will need to ensure you comply with all immigration requirements. By enrolling with the International College and the University, you agree to meet these responsibilities, including supplying any visa documentation required at enrolment and attending your course in person. If you do not, it may affect your stay in the UK. There are certain circumstances in which the University may need to report to the UK Visas and Immigration (UKVI) and/ or suspend or withdraw you from your studies. Please read the Your Visa, Your Responsibility guidance with care.

Although the University has prepared the Your Visa, Your Responsibility guide to help students better understand its sponsorship duties, it does not provide a full statement of requirements and prospective students and students remain fully responsible for making sure they understand and abide by current immigration rules and guidelines that apply to them. UKVI updates its policies and the immigration rules are subject to change within an academic year, so you must stay up to date on these requirements.

10. Specific Requirements for Professional Programmes

Some of the International College's and University's professional programmes, including those involving practice placements, may require you to complete an occupational health check and/ or a criminal conviction disclosure check with the DBS or similar check from your home country. If this is required, you will be informed of this within the Key Facts document provided with your Offer Letter.

There may be circumstances where a DBS check is not a requirement of a course. However, having a criminal conviction could prevent registration with a relevant professional, regulatory or statutory body ("PRSB"). It is your responsibility as a student to make your checks as to whether a previous conviction may have an effect on future studies, professional career progression or the ability to register or join a particular PRSB. For regulated professions, prospective employers may make their own assessments regarding an individual's fitness to practise in the relevant profession.

Fitness to Practise

Some programmes of study will require you to register with a PRSB and/or to practice under licence. It is your responsibility to ensure that all necessary declarations (including but not limited to criminal records, medical conditions, disabilities), are made to the International College during the admissions process and during the period of study, and that you comply with all relevant rules and regulations during study (and placement, if appropriate), including paying any associated registration or licence fees and maintaining any licences, registrations or consents. The International College will use its reasonable endeavours to support students in meeting fitness to practise criteria but accepts no responsibility in the event that a student is declared not fit for practise.

Additional standards of behaviour may also be required of students studying for a qualification that is accredited or recognised by a PRSB for the purposes of a form of registration with that body.

The Fitness to Practise procedure applies to programmes that include, or lead to, a professional qualification or confer practitioner status. Concerns about the professional unsuitability of students will be dealt with under this procedure. The University will take responsibility for assessing your fitness to practise in the profession to which you have applied in accordance with this procedure. In addition, if through the operation of the procedure in the Student Code of Conduct a student is found to have committed misconduct, this might constitute a ground for taking action under the Fitness to Practise Procedure.

The International College or the University may be obliged to share student information with relevant professional, statutory or regulatory bodies.

11. Placements

Some placements may be a compulsory part of your Pathway Programme and you may need to complete certain attendance or specialist requirements to achieve the learning outcomes of your Pathway Programme. Other placement opportunities may be optional, and, in some circumstances, you may be responsible for locating and applying for a placement. Certain placement arrangements will require you to enter into a separate placement agreement with your placement provider covering areas such as confidentiality, intellectual property and the scope of your placement. Students on placement will be subject to the Student Code of Conduct and associated procedures of the placement provider. Please see the Student Code of Conduct for further information.

12. Fees and Finance

Fees and Payment Arrangements

The ultimate obligation for paying your tuition fees remains with you, regardless of other arrangements you have in place, such as financial sponsorship. It is very important that you read the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College as relevant to your Pathway Programme at the International College. The Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College are the key financial policies and procedures that you agree to abide by whilst studying your Pathway Programme at the International College and contain extensive guidance for students on a wide range of issues relating to the payment of tuition fees and deposits, so it is essential that you familiarise yourself with them.

For the duration of your studies on a Pathway Programme at the International College, you will pay your tuition fees to the International College.

It is important that you make suitable arrangements for the payment of your tuition fees. The International College will try to support you and direct you to appropriate sources of help should you experience financial difficulties but, ultimately, it will expect you to plan well and pay on time. Occasionally, the International College may need to apply sanctions for non-payment of tuition fees. Please read this section alongside the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College linked above.

Tuition Fees

Your tuition fees will be set out within your Offer Pack.

Please note that unless the Offer Pack documents state otherwise, your tuition fee does not cover those costs or charges listed in the ‘Additional Costs’ section below.

Tuition fees are set by the International College and the University.

Providing there are no Pathway Programme transfers or changes to the original study mode, and progression through the Pathway Programme is within the normal timeframe, once you have accepted your Unconditional Offer Letter, the amount of tuition fees for your Pathway Programme is fixed and will not change.

Should you need to transfer programmes, change your Pathway Programme or suspend studies or repeat any part of the Pathway Programme, a higher tuition fee structure may apply which will be disclosed and discussed with you at the point of such programme transfer, change, suspension or repetition of any part of the Pathway Programme.

Additional Costs

Unless your Key Facts document states otherwise, your tuition fee does not include any charges for: third party examinations; professional body fees; disclosure, barring or occupational health checks; living expenses; accommodation; travelling expenses; equipment; conference attendance fees; trips or visits; or any other miscellaneous expenses that you are likely to incur to complete your Pathway Programme with the International College (such as photocopying or external internet access).

The International College has no responsibility for fees payable to third parties as set out more fully above.

Fees and Suspension or Withdrawal

You may be required to pay a proportion or all of your tuition fees if you withdraw or suspend from your studies. Please note that withdrawing from, or suspending your studies, may also have implications for any agreement you may have with a third party funder or financial sponsor of your tuition fees (if applicable) or other financial support you may be receiving or due to receive.

Sponsored Students

You are personally responsible for paying your tuition fees, including if you are sponsored by a third party and they do not pay your tuition fees as planned.

Recognition of Prior Learning

If you are considering submitting a claim for Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) you should refer to the University’s Recognition of Prior Learning guidance to ensure you understand the purpose and requirements of the process. The RPL process is separate from the International College’s Admissions process and you may only submit an RPL claim following receipt of an offer of a place on an International College Pathway Programme. You should submit an application for RPL in writing to the International College which will review it and establish its appropriateness to the Pathway Programme you are studying.

Support Packages, Bursaries, Discounts and Awards

The International College offers a range of support packages and bursaries for students. The available financial support packages, bursaries, scholarships, discounts and awards are subject to change from year to year and may not be available in future years if you defer. The International College reviews all awards, discounts, and scholarships annually, and may withdraw future provision at the end of an academic year or make changes to the value or terms and conditions of offer. This means that there may be other students studying in different cohorts of a Pathway Programme that can access different packages or benefits. Please refer to <http://www.mmu.ac.uk/international/college/admissions/scholarships> for further information regarding scholarships offered from time to time and the associated Scholarship Terms and Conditions.

Financial Difficulties and Potential Consequences of Non-Payment

If you are studying at the International College on a student visa, please be aware that non-payment of your tuition fees is a direct breach of UKVI regulations and may result in your visa being brought to a close. If you are experiencing any financial difficulty, please contact student.services@ic.mmu.ac.uk.

Please note that, ultimately, you may not be able to continue with your studies should you fail to pay your tuition fees. You must make sure that you pay your tuition fees, and any other applicable tuition costs or charges, on time; otherwise, the International College may be entitled to take certain steps against you including imposing sanctions (as set out within the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College). These include, but are not limited to, restricting access to services and/or taking action to legally recover any debts. We may also end the Contract with you in accordance with Section A:16 of these Terms if you do not pay your tuition fees by a specified date.

Equipment and Loans

Unless otherwise specified within your Key Facts document you are responsible for providing all equipment required for your Pathway Programme. Please take good care of any equipment provided or loaned to you by the International College or the University. There may be separate terms and conditions for any loan or provision of equipment. You may need to pay for a repair or a replacement if equipment is damaged or lost/stolen. Further information will be given when such equipment is provided or loaned to you.

13. Changes to Pathway Programme or Degree Programme Provision or Your Contract and How This May Affect You

Whilst the International College and the University will always try to minimise making any changes to the Contract (including changes to the Pathway Programme and/or your chosen Degree Programme), there may be times where changes are needed. This section describes the circumstances when we can make changes, as well as providing you with further information about when we may look to make such changes.

Changes to Your Contract

We may, from time to time, need to make changes to your Contract, including to the rules and regulations referenced within it. Changes will normally take effect at the start of the next academic year.

Sometimes, it may be necessary to make changes during an academic year where we reasonably consider the changes to be in the best interests of the International College's students, or otherwise necessary to meet regulatory or industry best practice as may be notified to you in line with the change procedure set out in these Terms.

The circumstances that we describe below are not the only ones that may arise during your studies with the International College, but they will give you some context as to when we may need to amend the Contract (including your Pathway Programme and/or your chosen Degree Programme).

This Section A:13 of Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document sets out the circumstances in which the International College and the University can make changes to your Contract, Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme up to the point you Progress onto your Degree Course. Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document describes the circumstances in which the University can make changes to the Contract and/or the Degree Programme after you Progress onto your Degree Programme.

Changes After You Have Entered into the Contract with Us

Where we need to make changes to the Contract, Pathway Programme and/or chosen Degree Programme after our Contract has been formed, we will, in each case, assess the potential impact of any such change on the Contract and students and will follow the principles set out in this section. We are always looking to improve and enhance students' experience, and we will engage with students throughout their studies at the International College, as well as engaging with teaching staff, and will actively seek feedback from these groups about how we can improve service delivery to students.

Changes to Your Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme or its Delivery

Whilst the International College and the University will always try to minimise making any changes to the Contract (including changes to the Pathway Programme and/or your chosen Degree Programme), there may be times where changes are needed. This section describes the circumstances when we can make changes, as well as providing you with further information about when we may look to make such changes.

CHANGES TO PRE-CONTRACT INFORMATION

Our printed prospectus and supporting marketing materials are published well in advance of the start of the academic year they refer to and therefore the online prospectus provides the more detailed and up-to-date information on our Pathway Programmes and your chosen Degree Programme. Please check the online prospectus information again before accepting your Offer Letter. Information that we may have given to you at the time you were researching and making an application for the Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme may have changed by the time we send out our Offer Letter. The Offer Pack sets out the core information (Offer Letter, Key Facts and this Important Information for Offer Holders document) that we consider you will require to make an informed decision whether to accept your Offer Letter. Please read these documents carefully before you accept.

The International College and the University will use all reasonable endeavours to deliver your Pathway Programme and/or chosen Degree Programme in accordance with the descriptions applied to it in the Key Facts for the academic year stated in the Key Facts. However, the International College and the University are entitled to make reasonable changes to a Pathway Programme and/or your chosen Degree Programme to ensure you receive the best quality of educational experience.

Some examples of these changes include:

- Keeping the International College Pathway Programme and University Degree Programme content and delivery up-to-date and relevant. We may need to implement technical adjustments and/ or improvements, for example: to reflect developments in academic teaching, research and/or professional standards/ requirements; to address any external examiner feedback received as part of their annual reports and/or results from our regular student feedback sessions. To set out further examples, we may make adjustments to:

aspects of the curriculum – to ensure that this is current and reflects developments in the subject area; the methods of assessment, assessment weightings, and the word length of individual assignments; and adjustments to the learning outcomes and how these are assessed;

- Changes as a result of a Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme review. It is standard practice for us to undertake a formal review of all taught provision in line with national, professional body and regulatory requirements. The aim of each International College Pathway Programme review and University Degree Programme review is to ensure, on a periodic basis, that the design, academic standards and quality of learning opportunities of existing Pathway Programmes remain appropriate to the Degree Programmes on which the Pathway Programme progresses and that Degree Programmes remain appropriate to the awards conferred by those Degree Programmes, and are informed by reference to institutional regulations and policies, national benchmarks and relevant professional and employment demands. Pathway Programme/ Degree Programme review is normally carried out at 6-yearly intervals, but can take place at a more frequent interval where required. Pathway Programme/Degree Programme review may result in certain changes to a Pathway Programme/Degree Programme of study. These changes will be made to enhance the quality of provision provided to students;
- Changes for the maintenance of academic standards and quality assurance;
- To reflect changes in relevant laws, statutory, regulatory and/or professional body requirements (or those of placement providers) and/or sector regulation or best practice;
- To implement technical or procedural changes to the International College or University IT systems or virtual learning environment;
- To reflect withdrawal of or a change to any relevant accreditation;
- Reviewing and refreshing optional modules. As indicated within the Key Facts and the online prospectus, the optional modules listed are indicative and may be subject to change. We do not guarantee that an optional course unit will always run in any given academic year as options may be dependent on varying factors such as the external and industry environment, current trends in research, student choice, numbers and staff expertise;
- Altering the location of the Pathway Programme/Degree Programme. For example, following campus consolidation to provide the best facilities and academic provision for its students;
- Changes to your mode and frequency of study including but not limited to moving between face to face and virtual provision where reasonably required.

In making any such changes, we will aim to keep the changes to the minimum necessary to achieve the required quality of experience. The International College will be responsible for notifying (depending on the nature and materiality of the change) affected students (as applicable) about changes that are required.

In respect of material changes, the International College will inform the affected students if we implement the change(s). If implementation of the change causes you detriment or hardship the International College will, if appropriate, work with you to try to reduce the adverse effect on you. Some examples of a material change include:

- A change of Pathway Programme/Degree Programme title; or
- A change to the availability of, or discontinuation, of a core course unit.

The International College will not usually notify you about minor changes. Minor changes may include the following (please note, this is a non-exhaustive list):

- Reasonable changes to the timetable for delivery of your Pathway Programme/Degree Programme;
- Reasonable changes to the number of classes/ lectures and other teaching activity relating to the Pathway Programme/Degree Programme;
- Reasonable changes to the way IT and library services are made available to you;
- Reasonable changes to the methods by which the Pathway Programme/Degree Programme is delivered and/or assessed;
- Reasonable variations to the content and syllabus of the Pathway Programme/Degree Programme;
- Changes to the location of your Pathway Programme/Degree Programme teaching facilities, provided these are within the same campus and/or provided they are of equivalent quality as those advertised in literature;
- Additions and/or withdrawals of certain non-core modules on your Pathway Programme/Degree Programme;
- Changes or modifications to optional overseas excursions/study trips;
- Changes to reading lists to deal with changes in the relevant subject area relating to your Pathway Programme/Degree Programme to ensure the same remains as up to date as possible;
- Changes to pastoral services provided to students;
- Procedural changes and/or reasonable changes to the Offer Pack that help improve the same to your benefit.

WITHDRAWAL, MERGING OR DISCONTINUATION OF PATHWAY PROGRAMMES

We will endeavour to run Pathway Programmes and Degree Programmes we have made offers for; however, there are occasions where we may need to suspend, discontinue or withdraw a Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme. This may be for low student numbers, but may also include circumstances such as where there is a change to accreditation or professional, statutory or regulatory body (PRSB) requirements, where there is a change to the external environment making delivery unviable or where academic or PRSB approval has not been achieved. There may also be circumstances where we need to merge or combine Pathway Programmes and/or Degree Programmes or units of study if such action is reasonably considered to be necessary by us in the context of its wider purposes.

BEFORE YOU ACCEPT OUR OFFER

If any of the above actions are taken, then the International College will use reasonable endeavours to notify you in advance and you shall be entitled to cancel your application by written notice to the International College. In these circumstances you will be entitled to a refund of any deposit or tuition fees which you have paid to the International College.

ONCE YOU HAVE ACCEPTED YOUR OFFER

If any of the above actions are taken once you have accepted your offer, the International College will provide as much notice as possible and will take all reasonable steps to minimise the resultant disruption by, for example, making an alternative offer, delivering a modified version of the Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme (where practicable to do so), or assisting affected students to move to another Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme (subject to meeting Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme requirements) or institution (if appropriate and possible).

14. Changes Outside Our Control

Sometimes, circumstances may arise which are beyond the control of the International College and the University which result in changes to your Pathway Programme or your Contract. Examples (without limitation) of such circumstances include:

- Industrial action by University or International College staff;
- Industrial action by third parties;
- The unanticipated departure of key members of International College and/ or University staff or unavoidable specialist staff absence;
- Acts or threatened acts of terrorism or a security threat;
- Damage or interruption to buildings, facilities or equipment;
- Severe weather conditions;
- The acts of any governmental or local authority (including but not limited to government or local authority imposed lockdowns or forced closures of the International College building or facilities or of the University's campus or its facilities).

Changes and Your Options

If we change your Pathway Programme and/or your chosen Degree Programme and/or Contract in a fundamental way and you are not satisfied with the changes, you will be offered the opportunity to withdraw from the Pathway Programme and, if required, reasonable support to transfer to another provider. It should be noted that this is without prejudice to your legal right of cancellation and to any other remedy which you would be entitled by law to seek.

15. Intellectual Property

Study Materials

Where downloadable study materials accompany your Pathway Programme, these study materials will be made available to you. The International College, the University and/or its licensors, remain the owner of the intellectual property in your Pathway Programme, the study materials and any content of your Pathway Programme. As long as you pay your tuition fees to the International College when due, you shall have a personal licence to use the study materials and Pathway Programme content for the sole purpose of studying for your Pathway Programme. You must not use the study materials or Pathway Programme content for any other purpose, if you do, this will infringe the International College and/or the University's intellectual property rights and/or those of its licensors.

You may not modify, re-publish, sub-licence, sell, upload, transmit, make available, or disseminate in any way any of the study materials or Pathway Programme content we have provided to you during the course of your studies with the International College. You may not modify, merge, translate, disassemble, decompile, recompile or reverse engineer any software forming part of the virtual learning environment, Pathway Programme content or the study materials or create derivative works based on the whole of or any part, or which incorporate, the study materials or Pathway Programme content. The International College may withdraw use of any particular study materials or Pathway Programme content at any time where reasonably required.

Student Intellectual Property

If you create intellectual property rights (IPR) during your studies with the International College, the standard position is that you will own such rights, unless:

- You generate IPR which builds upon existing IPR generated by, or is jointly invented with the International College, the University, employees or associates, in which case you will be required to assign such IPR to the International College and/or the University and in respect of revenue generated by that IPR, you may be entitled to apportioned income; or
- You are also an employee of the International College or the University and developed the IPR in your capacity as an employee.

You will find more information in our Intellectual Property Policy.

16. How We May End Our Contract

We may end the Contract by giving you notice in the circumstances we have set out below. The length of the notice we will give to you will depend on why we need to end the Contract and will be determined in line with any relevant International College and/or University policies or procedures. In serious circumstances, we may have the right to end the Contract with immediate effect and we will tell you when this is the case.

We may end the Contract where:

- We become aware that information you have provided to us is untrue, inaccurate, incomplete and/or misleading and/or at any point becomes untrue, inaccurate, incomplete and/or misleading. This includes where we become aware that your original application to study with the International College contained incorrect or missing or misleading information;

- You fail to comply with requests for information, to make declarations and/or to meet specific requirements or conditions of your Pathway Programme or Degree Programme as specified in the Offer Pack;
- Your circumstances change so that you no longer have permission to remain in the UK or we are required to withdraw you under our Home Office sponsor duties, your student visa is revoked or your continued registration would place us in breach of any legal or Home Office compliance duties;
- You fail to meet the requirements to register/ enrol for your Pathway Programme with either the International College or the University, or failing to re-enrol in subsequent semesters with the International College, or subsequent years with the University, within the required timescale;

17. How You May End Our Contract

We need to let you know about your legal right to cancel the Contract with us. This is different to the way you can withdraw, suspend or defer your studies.

Cancellation Rights

You have a right by law to cancel your Contract with us within 14 days of the date set out in this paragraph without giving any reason ("Statutory Cancellation Period"). The Statutory Cancellation Period starts following the day that the International College has received all of the following from you: (i) the completed and signed acceptance form and (ii) the deposit (or satisfactory evidence of sponsorship). If your Statutory Cancellation Period ends on a day which is a public holiday in England, a Saturday, or a Sunday, then your Statutory Cancellation Period will be extended to the next working day. To exercise the right to cancel, you must inform the International College in writing at: FAO Admissions Team, Manchester Metropolitan University International College, Chatham Building, Floor 7 Cavendish Street, Manchester M15 6BR United Kingdom; or by email to admissions@ic.mmu.ac.uk of your decision to cancel your Contract by providing a clear statement (e.g. a letter sent by post or e-mail). You may use the Model Cancellation Form but it is not obligatory. We will communicate to you an acknowledgement of receipt of such a cancellation on a durable medium (e.g. by e-mail) without delay. To meet the cancellation deadline, it is sufficient for you to send your communication concerning your exercise of the right to cancel before the Statutory Cancellation Period has expired.

If you cancel your Contract within the Statutory Cancellation Period, the International College will normally reimburse to you all payments received from you. The International College will process the reimbursement without undue delay, and no later than 14 days after the day on which it was informed about your decision to cancel your Contract provided it has all relevant information. The International College will make the reimbursement using the same means of payment as you used for the initial transaction to the person making the original payment in the source country of the payment unless you have expressly agreed otherwise, unless restricted by law or if it feels a different method of reimbursement is required in accordance with its anti-money laundering or anti-fraud procedures; in any event, it will not add any additional fees as a result of the reimbursement. However, if you decide to terminate the Contract during the Statutory Cancellation Period but your Pathway Programme has already commenced within the Statutory Cancellation Period then the International College will refund you the deposit less the £250 administration fee charge.

By accepting our Offer Letter, you will also be providing express consent, if relevant, to start delivering your Pathway Programme within your Statutory Cancellation Period.

If you cancel you must return to the International College in a reasonable condition, any study materials you may have received without undue delay and no later than 14 calendar days after you inform the International College of the cancellation. You will be liable for the cost of returning any goods (if applicable to your Pathway Programme).

If you have received any financial benefit, package or scholarship this must also be returned to the International College promptly either in full or in line with any separate terms and conditions which apply to the relevant financial support package, benefit scheme, award, bursary or scholarship which you have received.

Withdrawing From Your Studies

Your Contract with the International College and the University will end if you withdraw. Find further information on withdrawing from your studies in the University Suspension and Withdrawal Procedure. You are entitled to end your Contract at any time without reason, but administration fees may apply, and you may not be entitled to a refund of any tuition fees you have paid. Please refer to the Refund Guidelines in the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College. Your leaving date will be determined by the last date of engagement with your Pathway Programme in line with the International College's Attendance and Engagement Monitoring Policy.

Suspension

There are certain circumstances in which we may suspend your registration or enrolment and/or access to facilities and premises. For example (but not limited to), pending an investigation under the Student Code of Conduct, pending consideration of a student's case by a Fitness to Practise Panel, further to a decision taken under the Student Transfer, Suspension and Withdrawal Policy, for failure to comply with your student visa or Home Office requirements, or where you fail to enrol or re-enrol with the International College or University on time. Such suspension may be immediate pending the gathering of further information where we reasonably consider that your behaviour presents a material risk to others or yourself. Your suspension date will be determined by the last date of engagement with your Pathway Programme in line with the International College's Attendance and Engagement Monitoring Policy. You may remain responsible for paying your tuition fees during any period of suspension.

18. Other Services

During your studies with the International College, you will be subject to both International College and University policies and procedures throughout your Pathway Programme, including rules and regulations relating to use of particular services, such as IT facilities and library and learning resources which you must comply with in accordance with the terms of those rules and regulations. Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document sets out further information on the services provided to you under your Contract. Although we will further endeavour to provide you with appropriate access to a range of services, we may change our range or type of services from time to time to ensure that they are fit for purpose and provide the best experience to you. Our services may also be temporarily suspended or modified for essential maintenance, for improvements to be made and/or for events outside of our reasonable control.

IT Services

The University's virtual learning environment (Moodle) provides Pathway Programme related materials and learning activities. It is also used to deliver and manage assessment. You are expected to actively engage with the virtual learning environment and we will monitor engagement. Use of IT facilities (including email) is subject to a suite of IT-related policies. These include the policy on Acceptable Use of University IT Services, Regulations for the Use of University Computing Resources and the Information Security Policy. Please read these policies carefully.

There may be links from the virtual learning environment to sites on the internet which are operated by third parties. Neither the International College nor the University are responsible for the availability of, or the content located through such external sites.

Library Services

All students who use the library or library resources of the University must do so in accordance with the applicable library rules and regulations, and failure to do so may result in action being taken under the Student Code of Conduct.

Other Services

Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document provides helpful information about what other services and facilities may be available to you during your time with the International College and the University. These do not, however, represent services provided to you under this Contract, and therefore are not a term of your Contract.

Other, non-educational services provided to you, for example residential accommodation and sports centre membership, amount to separate and distinct contracts and are therefore subject to separate contractual terms. You may also enter into separate contractual arrangements with other third parties such as a financial sponsor or funder.

19. Our Liability to You

If the International College or the University fail to comply with this Contract we may, in certain circumstances, be responsible for loss or damage you suffer that is a foreseeable result of our breach of this Contract or our negligence, but we are not responsible for any loss or damage that is not foreseeable. Loss or damage is foreseeable if they were an obvious consequence of our breach or if they were contemplated by you and us at the time we entered into this Contract.

Neither the International College or the University can accept responsibility, and we will not be liable to you for:

- Any damage to your property (e.g. personal equipment such as mobiles, tablets and laptops);
- Work submitted for assessment that is not returned;
- Personal injury or death except in so far as it is caused by our negligence;
- Any miscommunication that may arise where you have provided incorrect or out-of-date contact details;
- Loss of opportunity and loss of income or profit, however arising.

Neither the International College or the University excludes, or limits in any way, liability for:

- Death or personal injury caused by our negligence or the negligence of our employees, agents or subcontractors;
- Fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation; or
- Any other matter which we are not permitted to exclude or limit our liability by law.

20. Events Outside Our Control

Neither the International College nor the University will be liable or responsible for any failure to perform, or delay in performance of, any of our obligations under these Terms that is caused by an Event Outside Our Control.

An Event Outside Our Control means any act or event beyond the International College or University's reasonable control including but not limited to:

- Strikes, lock-outs or other industrial action by third parties;
- Civil commotion, riot, invasion, terrorist attack or threat of terrorist attack, war (whether declared or not) or threat or preparation for war, fire, explosion, storm, flood, earthquake, subsidence, epidemic or other natural disaster, or failure of public or private tele or electronic communications networks;
- The acts of any governmental or local authority.

If an Event Outside Our Control occurs, the International College will contact you as soon as reasonably possible to notify you. Our obligations under these Terms will be suspended unless any part of them is able to be performed irrespective of the Event Outside Our Control, and the time in which we are required to comply with our obligations (or any part of them) will be extended for the duration of the Event Outside Our Control.

Should an Event Outside Our Control interfere with our ability to deliver your Pathway Programme, we will use reasonable endeavours to minimise the disruption caused to you.

21. Other Important Information

Complaints

There may be occasions where students wish to raise legitimate complaints relating to their programme, or the facilities and services provided by the International College or the University. It is important that both students and staff know that such complaints will be dealt with seriously and transparently, and without fear of recrimination. To ensure that this happens, the International College follows the University's Student Complaints Procedure, which details procedures and parameters for making a complaint, alongside what action may be taken in response to complaints.

In the event you raise a complaint, you can raise it with the International College in the first instance student.services@ic.mmu.ac.uk. The University will be responsible for dealing with any complaints which progress to a formal stage, as more fully described in the Student Complaints Procedure.

If, having exhausted all stages of the internal complaints procedure (or other relevant internal procedure), a student considers that we have failed to consider and respond to their complaint appropriately, the student can refer their complaint to the Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education, which provides an independent scheme for the review of eligible student complaints.

You may be able to seek advice from the Students' Union Advice Centre and/or the Citizens' Advice Bureau.

Section B: Key Policies and Procedures

While you complete your Pathway Programme with the International College, at certain times throughout your Pathway Programme the International Colleges policies and procedures will apply, and at other times the University's policies and procedures will apply. This section is designed to set out which policies and procedures apply to you.

1. Student Code of Conduct

The University's Student Code of Conduct sets procedures and sanctions for dealing with behaviour classed as misconduct whilst you are a student at the International College. The International College will deal with instances of misconduct at the informal stage, as described in the Student Code of Conduct and the Student Complaints Procedure. If the matter reaches the formal stage as described in the Student Code of Conduct and the Student Complaints Procedure, it will be referred to the University for review. We may terminate and/or suspend the Contract where you do not comply with this Student Code of Conduct. Please see Section A:16 of the Terms for further information.

2. Student Complaints Procedure

There may be occasions where students wish to raise legitimate complaints relating to their Pathway Programme, or the facilities and services provided. To ensure that complaints are dealt with transparently, and without fear of recrimination, students should in the first instance contact the International College, which will deal with your complaint in accordance with the University's Student Complaints Procedure. If your complaint cannot be resolved informally, the University will deal with your complaint in accordance with its Student complaints procedure | Manchester Metropolitan University. This details the University's procedures and parameters for what action may be taken in response. Please see Section A:21 of the Terms for further information.

3. Fitness to Practise Procedure

Where students are studying on Pathway Programmes which themselves are or are linked to a Degree Programme which is accredited or overseen by Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies, we have a responsibility to safeguard and uphold the professional standards of the professions it serves. The University's Fitness to Practise Procedure enables us to maintain these standards, whilst supporting students undertaking pathways or pathways leading to degrees in professionally accredited qualifications. The University will deal with any fitness to practise matters at both the informal and formal stage, as more fully set out in the Fitness to Practise Procedure.

4. Assessment Regulations

One of the guiding principles of assessment at the International College is that the work of all students can be fairly and objectively evaluated. In order to ensure this, it uses the University's Assessment Regulations. These Regulations undergo formal review every year to ensure that they are always up to date.

The Regulations set out the rules and procedures that determine:

- How marks for each module are calculated;
- Pass marks for Pathway Programmes;
- The number of credits required to progress to each level of study;
- Requirements and practicalities in relation to reassessment.

5. Academic Misconduct and Exam Regulations

In order to safeguard the International College's academic standards, it uses the University's Academic Misconduct Policy 2024/25 | Manchester Metropolitan University for dealing with suspected misconduct. This policy details types of misconduct such as plagiarism or the purchase of work from 'essay mills' – how suspected offences are investigated, and the penalties that can be applied. The policy also details students' rights of appeal in cases relating to academic misconduct.

The policy also details students' rights of appeal in cases relating to academic misconduct. Please follow the link in Section B:6 below for further information.

Exam Regulations relating to the International College can be found within the University's Assessment Regulations.

6. Academic Appeals

The International College has in place a range of policies and procedures to ensure that the final marks awarded to students of the International College are fair, equitable and accurately reflect the quality of work submitted. In very rare circumstances – where a material irregularity has occurred during the conduct of assessment – there may be a basis for submitting an Academic Appeal.

Academic Appeals can only be submitted in the circumstances outlined above, and cannot be used for challenging the academic judgement of Assessment Boards. Academic appeals can be submitted to the International College in the first instance for review. In the event the matter reaches the formal stage of the process, as per the Academic Appeals Policy, it will be referred to the University.

7. Evidenced Extensions

There may be occasions where illness or difficult life events occur outside of a student's control, and that these can have a detrimental impact on performance in assessed work. The International College uses the University's Assessment Extensions Procedure to handle such cases, which outlines the type of events or circumstances that are considered as grounds for an extension, and what students need to do to apply for an evidenced extension.

8. Support to Study Procedure

The University's Support for Study Procedure is intended to inform and guide the International College's response to situations where there are concerns that a student is not well enough to study, including situations where a student is unaware that they are not well enough to study. The procedure is intended to be supportive. The focus at all stages is to provide the infrastructure to support the student to succeed on their course. This may include suspension of study until such time as the student is well enough to complete successfully. There will, however, be a small number of cases where students do not engage with, or are unable to agree with, the support or adjustments that the International College considers to be reasonable to enable the student to satisfactorily continue. In these rare circumstances, it may no longer consider it feasible for the student to continue their studies. In such cases students may need to be suspended or required to withdraw from studies.

Section C: Finance

1. Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College

You will find extensive guidance for students on a wide range of issues relating to the payment of tuition fees and deposits (if applicable) on the International College website at: Fees | The International College.

Attending university is a significant financial commitment, and a key part of this is the payment of tuition or course fees. Please note that ultimately, you may not be able to continue with your studies should you fail to pay your Pathway Programme tuition fees. You must make sure that you pay your Pathway Programme tuition fees on time otherwise the International College may be entitled to take certain steps against you including terminating the Contract with you and taking sanctions to legally recover any debts, as detailed in the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College.

Tuition fees can be paid by a variety of options either during your enrolment or online at any time, as long as tuition fees for the next semester are paid in full by the payment due date advised by the IC as per section 3 of the Regulations for the Payment of Fees for Students of the International College and stated in your Unconditional Offer Letter. Please refer to Fees | The International College for further information. If you experience any difficulties with payments, you should contact the Student Services team student.services@ic.mmu.ac.uk who will support you in this process.

PART 2: YOUR DEGREE PROGRAMME AT THE UNIVERSITY

Section A: Your Contract

Terms and Conditions Applicable to the Provision of Educational Services at the University

Overview

Introduction

Welcome to the Terms and Conditions applicable to the study of your Degree Programme at the University. Please read these Terms and Conditions and the documents detailed within carefully before accepting our Offer as they will form the contract between you and the University. Your contract with the University for your Degree Programme starts when you accept our Offer but is only effective when you Progress to your Degree Programme at the University. You should read through the Terms and Conditions again before enrolling (or re-enrolling) with us.

It isn't practical to provide the full detail of every policy or procedure that may apply to your studies or the services offered by the University during your Degree Programme within the text of these Terms and Conditions. You will find a number of links included within these Terms and Conditions or the documents referred to within them that will allow you to access more detailed information on particular areas. We know that we're providing a lot of information to you so we've also included a number of annotations to try to explain in plain language some key points. The annotations don't form part of our contract but we hope they help you; there's no hidden small print and we've tried to make sure that our Terms and Conditions are easy to understand and fair.

Please note that during your time as a student with us on your Degree Programme, it is the University's policy to use your University email address to communicate with you. Please check your emails regularly to make sure you stay up to date.

Degree Programme Information

Our printed prospectus is intended to provide an overview of our Degree Programmes of study and the University. It is developed well in advance of the start of the academic year referenced in your Key Facts document and therefore the information within the printed prospectus reflects the Degree Programmes as they are at that time. We regularly update our online prospectus so that our published Degree Programme information is accurate and up to date.

Changes to Degree Programmes

Please note that our Degree Programmes are subject to review and development on an ongoing basis. Changes may sometimes be necessary. For example, to comply with the requirements of professional or accrediting bodies or as a result of student feedback or external examiners reports. In addition, we also need to ensure that our Degree Programmes are dynamic and current and that the content and structure maintain academic standards and enhance the quality of the student experience. We only make changes where we consider it necessary to do so and/or where we feel that certain changes are in the best interests of students. Occasionally, we have to make changes for reasons outside of our control. The provisions detailing when we may make changes to your Degree Programme, please see Section A12 of these Terms.

Terms and Conditions in Full

The sections below set out in full the Terms and Conditions governing the Contract between you and the University during your study on your Degree Programme with the University. Please make sure you review carefully, and understand your entitlements and obligations as a student of the University.

The definitions set out in Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document will also apply in Part 2, unless otherwise set out in this Part 2.

'We', 'our' or 'us' in Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document means the University. Reference to the 'Terms' means these Terms and Conditions set out in Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document.

1. What is the Contract Between You and the University?

At its heart, it is a contract between you and the University under which the University agrees to provide educational services and the facilities for you to study and you agree to progress those studies at the University and to abide by University regulations and these Terms (we have called this 'the Contract' throughout these Terms).

Successful provision of the services relies upon a strong relationship between you, staff and the University. Underpinning the relationship are a number of regulations, policies and procedures and you will find further information within Section B of Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document and also at the following link: Policies, Regulations and Legal Notices. We have explained these documents further in Section A6.

Please do read these Terms and all other information provided to you with your Offer Letter (which we have described in Section A3) carefully to make sure you understand what the University agrees to provide and what you will need to comply with and do on your Degree Programme. It is your responsibility to make sure that all the information you provide to the University is accurate and true.

We are required to provide you with details of who we are and our contact information in connection with this Contract and we have set this out again in Useful contacts.

2. When is Our Contract Formed?

The Contract between you and the University is formed when you accept our offer of a place with the International College, although in order for it to become effective and for you to commence your studies on the Degree Programme with the University, you must first successfully complete your Pathway Programme with the International College. You may also need to satisfy certain non-academic conditions or requirements, as notified to you during the admissions process and/or set out in your Key Facts document attached to your Offer Letter (as described in Section A3 below). In the event you do not successfully complete your Pathway Programme and/or do not satisfy these non-academic conditions or requirements, then this Contract will not become effective and will terminate as described in Section A14.

You will also need to enrol with us before the start of each academic year during your Degree Programme. In the event you don't enrol the University has the discretion to withdraw you from your Degree Programme, and terminate your Contract in accordance with Section A14 below. Once you have enrolled in your first year, you will be registered for the duration of your Degree Programme but you will still need to re-enrol each academic year. During enrolment and re-enrolment you will be reminded of these Terms that apply to your studies and time at the University.

Your Offer

The letter offering you a place on one of the University's Degree Programmes (the "Offer Letter") accompanies this Important Information for Offer Holders Document and Key Facts document – we have described this document in more detail in Section A3. Please note, the Offer Letter offering you a place on your Degree Programme as described in Section 3, is the same Offer Letter offering you a place on your Pathway Programme (and as set out in Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders). You do not receive two separate Offer Letters for your Pathway Programme and Degree Programme.

3. What Makes Up The Contract?

We have set out in this section the documents which make up your Contract with the University as you complete your Degree Programme with the University. You need to be aware that when you accept your Offer, you will be agreeing to these documents including these Terms and the documents we have signposted to you within these Terms. There may be additional terms and conditions relating to different University services but we will let you know if that is the case and you'll have the opportunity to read and consider these before you access or use those services.

This Contract is made up of the key documents listed below (we call them the "Key Contract Documents"). These are:

- Your Offer Letter, and any other document we have referred to within it, including the Key Facts about your Degree Programme (including the core components of your Degree Programme and the fees). Although the Contract between us is formed when you accept the Offer, it does not become effective until you successfully complete your Pathway Programme and satisfy any non-academic] conditions or requirements set out in your Key Facts document attached to your Offer. You will only be able to enrol with us on your Degree Programme once you have Progressed.

- Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders Document provided with your Offer Letter, including the Terms set out within it. This document provides the key terms, conditions, regulations, policies and procedures relevant to life and studying on your Degree Programme at the University once you Progress. You should ensure you read this document carefully.
- The regulations, policies and procedures referred to within Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders Document (unless we have expressly told you a regulation, policy or procedure is 'non-contractual'). You must comply with these regulations, policies and procedures, otherwise you will be in breach of this Contract. You will find the current versions and more detailed guidance on these here (as relevant to your year of study and setting out the regulations and policies in place). There is also a helpful summary of each policy or procedure at Section B of Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders Document and you can follow or enter the link to read the full policy, procedure or guidance. These policies and procedures are relevant to your studies so please familiarise yourself with them so you know what to expect. The Faculty you are a part of may have additional policies or procedures which will be brought to your attention.

These Terms are applicable to the provision of the University's educational services for students studying on the Degree Programme and any other document referred to within them (unless we have expressly told you a document is 'non-contractual'). The Terms applicable to the Contract are set out within Part 2 of this document. The University may change and update the regulations, policies and procedures as referred to above from time to time, in order to assist in delivering educational services to students.

Other regulations, policies and procedures that may, from time to time, be approved by the University's Academic Board, Executive Group, or Board of Governors, in order to assist in delivering educational services to students or admissions services to applicants. We will tell you if there are any new regulations, policies and procedures that you need to comply with.

In addition to the Key Contract Documents set out above, some Degree Programmes of study may require you to:

- a. Agree to supplemental terms and conditions, for example, if you are studying on a professional programme or undertaking a placement (e.g., studying at a partner university, completing a work placement at a partner organisation, etc).
- b. Agree to the terms and conditions of other third parties, such as a sponsor or funder, placement provider, professional bodies, accrediting bodies or relevant third party providers. If there is any conflict between a third party's terms and conditions and your Contract with the University, the Contract will normally take priority. You will also need to abide by a number of terms and conditions relating to access to and use of particular University services, for example, those relating to use of the University's Library, computing, and information technology services including virtual learning environment access.
- c. Sometimes it might be necessary to change parts of our Contract with you. Where we need to make any changes to the Contract (minor or significant), we will manage such changes in accordance with Section A12 below.

4. Duration of the Contract

How Long is the Contract?

Your Contract starts when you accept your Offer Letter at the outset of your studies with the International College. Once you successfully complete your Pathway Programme with the International College, and satisfy any other non-academic requirements required of your Degree Programme with the University set out in the Key Facts document, you will automatically Progress onto the University's Degree Programme, and the Terms set out in Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders will apply. Your Contract will last until successful completion of your Degree Programme with the University or until it is terminated as described in Sections A14 and A15.

IMPORTANT: We provide further information on how you, or the University, can end our Contract in Sections A14 and A15.

What Happens If I Defer?

If we agree to defer the start date for your Degree Programme (we cannot guarantee that this will be possible and there is no contractual right to defer), please note that the Degree Programme and its requirements, tuition fee, bursaries or scholarships and University services and facilities currently described at the time of your original offer may change (or not be available) for your deferred year of entry. As an international student, deferring the start date of your Degree Programme may also affect your visa. It is your responsibility to make sure you fully understand how deferring the start date of your Degree Programme impacts your visa status. The University has prepared the Your Visa. Your Responsibility guide to help you better understand your visa compliance obligations. At the appropriate time, we will write to you to provide a new offer for your new year of entry onto your Degree Programme and once published, will provide you with an updated Key Facts and Important Information for Offer Holders document. The deferral process is outlined in full within the Recruitment and Admissions Policy.

5. Your Obligations

Alongside the obligations in these Terms, the University has developed Our Commitment Statement. The Commitment Statement sets out the intention of the University, and the Students' Union, to work in partnership with you, as a Manchester Metropolitan University student, in supporting your learning and helping you succeed, and sets out your own role in ensuring that success, and the standards of behaviour and personal responsibility expected of our students. Although the University would like to draw your attention to the Commitment Statement, it is not intended to be legally binding or to form part of the Key Contract Documents.

There are some important obligations that we require you to meet under your Contract and we have described these below.

Specific Obligations

In addition to all obligations set out within the regulations, policies and procedures that apply to you, you are required to:

- Play a full and active role in progressing your studies at the University and fully engage with any attendance registration or monitoring methods that are in place in line with the Student Engagement Policy which we have provided to you. You should let the University know if you cannot attend classes or cannot continue to engage with your Degree Programme for any reason. Because you are an international student, please also refer to the Your Visa, Your Responsibility document for further information on requirements applicable to you;
- As well as complying with these Terms, all other terms described in the Key Contract Documents and the regulations, policies and procedures set out within Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document, you should also familiarise yourself with any Degree Programme specific information provided to you including within any Degree Programme handbook that is provided to you;

- Meet any conditions set out in your Offer Letter and continue to satisfy these conditions (where relevant) throughout the duration of the Contract;
- Make any disclosures required by us under these Terms and also provide any supporting information that is reasonably required. Failure to disclose full information could lead to the withdrawal of an offer of a place, termination of your Contract or discontinuation of your studies;
- Pay all fees and other charges when due. Details of your tuition fees and other charges you can expect to pay are set out in the Offer Letter and the Key Facts document which we provided with your Offer Letter. Please also refer to Section A11 for further information on fees and finance;

You must comply with any reasonable instructions we provide to you about health, safety and security and comply with our Health and Safety Policy. In particular, we may put in place specific health and safety policies which will apply to you when you are on any of the University's campuses (including in our halls of residence) or using any of the University's facilities. Sometimes, we may need to add new policies and procedures or change existing ones quickly in order to respond to an immediate health or safety threat (such as an epidemic or pandemic) or where particular requirements are imposed on us by (for example) the government or other local authorities or public health authorities. We will tell you about any such policies and procedures and we will let you know as quickly as possible about any changes to such policies and procedures. We ask you to comply with these policies and procedures in order to ensure your safety and those of others around you;

- Carry your student identification card with you at all times when you are on campus. You may need to show this to authorised representatives of the University and will need this to access a range of University services. Your student identification card is first issued to you when you start your Pathway Programme at the International College. You agree to provide us with all information and assistance reasonably required to provide you with a replacement student identification card in the event your student identification card is lost or stolen (including providing us with a passport-style photo which we will put on your student identification card).

In the event you don't comply with the obligations set out above you may face the following consequences:

- For non-compliance relating to student conduct, you may face action under the Student Code of Conduct;
- For non-compliance relating to engagement, action may be taken against you under the Engagement Policy and the Suspension Transfer and Withdrawal procedure; or
- For issues relating to non-payment of fees action may be taken against you under the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees.

6. The University's Regulations

You agree to comply with the Terms and all regulations, policies and procedures referred to within Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders Document provided to you with your Offer Letter during your Degree Programme should you Progress. These regulations, policies and procedures are more fully set out below.

Are There Any Particularly Important or Surprising Terms?

This section draws your attention to certain important or surprising conditions or information about your Degree Programme of study. We will also let you know in your Offer Letter or your Key Facts documents if there is any particularly surprising or important information.

The Assessment Regulations applicable to your Degree Programme are accessible from within Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document. Further information on Assessment Regulations can be found in Section B.

There are some provisions we need to draw your particular attention to, as they can result in a disciplinary process and ultimately mean you may not be able to continue at the University. These include:

- Academic Misconduct Policy

- Student Code of Conduct
- Student Transfer, Suspension and Withdrawal Policy

Academic Misconduct Policy

In order to safeguard our academic standards and the integrity of our awards, the University has in place an Academic Misconduct Policy for dealing with suspected misconduct. This policy details types of misconduct – such as plagiarism or the purchase of work from ‘essay mills’ – how suspected offences are investigated, and the penalties that can be applied. The policy also details students’ rights of appeal in cases relating to academic misconduct.

Student Code of Conduct

The Student Code of Conduct sets out the standards of conduct the University requires of its students, so that everyone can undertake their studies in a supportive and non-threatening environment. Breaches of certain regulations and policies of the University will, where appropriate, be dealt with as breaches of the Student Code of Conduct. Examples include but are not limited to:

- Library Rules and Regulations;
- Student Rules and Regulations for the Use of Computing Facilities;
- Non- compliance with student visa requirements;
- Terms and Conditions of University accommodation.

Further information on these rules and regulations can be found below. The Student Code of Conduct does not deal with academic misconduct which is addressed in the Academic Misconduct Policy.

Student Transfer, Suspension and Withdrawal

The University has in place a range of guidance and support available to students who are uncertain about continuing with their studies on their Degree Programme, or who are failing to meet the professional or academic requirements of their Degree Programme. However, there may be occasions where – for a variety of reasons – a student decides that they wish to take time out of their studies or to withdraw, or that the University concludes a student must be withdrawn or expelled.

The University’s Student Transfer, Suspension and Withdrawal Policy outlines the processes, grounds, implications and the specialist sources of advice available in relation to:

- Withdrawal at the request of a student;
- Withdrawal of a student by the University;
- Expulsion for intentionally overstaying immigration permission to be in the UK;
- Suspension of studies at the request of a student;
- Suspension of studies by the University.

Please read the policy carefully as it sets out the circumstances in which the University may take steps to unilaterally suspend or withdraw you from your Degree Programme (which may have financial implications), and your rights of appeal. This policy also contains information specific to your student visa status as an “international student” (that is a student from outside the UK) so please read it carefully.

If you are considering withdrawing from your Degree Programme, always make sure you discuss this with your Academic Tutor or Programme Leader before you make a formal decision as they may be able to refer you to sources of guidance and support who may be able to explain the potential implications for that decision.

Students should make sure they have fully discussed the financial implications of withdrawing or suspending before they leave the Degree Programme. The Student Hub can provide more advice on the process. Any amendments to the amount of fees you are due to pay the University will be advised by the Student Billings Team (studentbillings@mmu.ac.uk). For any queries regarding outstanding fee repayments following suspension/withdrawal please contact the Collection & Recovery Team (pav@mmu.ac.uk, 0161 247 1852). Please check with your accommodation provider as you may still be liable to pay for your accommodation.

7. Criminal Convictions

Applicant Stage

Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document describes what criminal convictions you must declare when you first accept your offer of a place on the Pathway Programme, leading to a Degree Programme with the University.

Certain Degree Programmes that involve interacting with children or vulnerable adults in regulated activities; and/or require a criminal records check via the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) in the UK, or the local equivalent in your home country, require you to disclose all convictions, including spent convictions, cautions and bind-over orders. Where this applies to your Degree Programme, we have indicated this in the Key Facts document provided with your Offer Letter (or in your Offer Letter). You will also be asked to declare if you are currently under investigation by the police in connection with an alleged criminal offence.

When you accept your Offer, you must therefore let us know of any relevant and unspent criminal convictions in your [Acceptance Form]. Please see Disclosure of Criminal Convictions web page for further guidance on this.

What if I am convicted of a relevant criminal conviction at a later date?

When you Progress onto your Degree Programme with the University, you are under an ongoing obligation, which continues throughout your studies, to declare promptly any relevant criminal charges or convictions.

Students will also be asked to provide information on any relevant convictions that have not already been disclosed to the University, at enrolment and re-enrolment on your Degree Programme, each academic year.

Why Do We Ask for This Information?

This is to enable us to identify, assess and manage the potential risks to the University community, and/or to offer support where appropriate. This includes considering risks arising of you living in University accommodation.

What happens if I declare a conviction?

If you declare a criminal conviction, in the event we require it, you will be obliged to provide further information. Disclosure of relevant, unspent convictions will be considered by the University's Risk Panel. For further information, refer to the University's Students with Criminal Convictions Risk Management Policy.

Possible Outcomes

The University has the right to:

- Refuse enrolment at the University and/or to terminate a student's Contract where, following a risk assessment or professional suitability/DBS (or equivalent overseas process) assessment the University's decision is to refuse admission and study at the University.
- Impose conditions and/or restrictions on a student's offer, admission, enrolment or study at the University to help manage any risks identified.

We may withhold enrolment and/or commencement at the University where a prospective student fails to provide appropriate information or pending a risk panel or professional suitability/DBS (or equivalent overseas process) assessment.

8. International Students

As you are an international student you must read our guide on international visas, Your Visa. Your Responsibility, for further information. This document explains the reporting and record-keeping duties of the University. It also explains what you need to do during your studies at the University to protect your immigration status in the UK. As an international student you will need the correct visa to study and will need to ensure you comply with all immigration requirements. By enrolling with the University, you agree to meet these responsibilities, including supplying any visa documentation required at enrolment and attending your course in person. If you do not, it may affect your stay in the UK. There are certain circumstances in which we may need to report to the UK Visas and Immigration (UKVI) and/ or suspend or withdraw you from your studies. Please read the Your Visa. Your Responsibility guidance with care.

Although the University has prepared the Your Visa. Your Responsibility guide to help students better understand their sponsorship duties, it does not provide a full statement of requirements and prospective students and students remain fully responsible for making sure they understand and abide by current immigration rules and guidelines that apply to them. UKVI updates its policies and the immigration rules are subject to change within an academic year, so you must stay up-to-date on these requirements.

9. Specific Requirements for Professional Degree Programmes

Some of our professional Degree Programmes, including those involving practice placements, may require you to complete an occupational health check and/ or a criminal conviction disclosure check with the Disclosure and Barring Service (“DBS”) in the UK and/or or if you are an international student a similar check from your home country. If this is required, we will inform you of this within the Key Facts document provided with your Offer Letter.

There may be circumstances where a DBS check (or overseas equivalent) is not a requirement of a Degree Programme. However, having a criminal conviction could prevent registration with a relevant professional, regulatory or statutory body (“PRSB”). It is your responsibility as a student to make your checks as to whether a previous conviction may have an effect on future studies, professional career progression or the ability to register or join a particular PRSB. For regulated professions, prospective employers may make their own assessments regarding an individual’s fitness to practise in the relevant profession.

Fitness to Practise

Some Degree Programmes of study will require you to register with a PRSB and/or to practice under licence. It is your responsibility to ensure that all necessary declarations (including but not limited to criminal records, medical conditions, disabilities), have been made to the University during the admissions process when you first applied to the International College and University, and during the period of study on your Degree Programme with the University, and that you comply with all relevant rules and regulations during study (and placement, if appropriate), including paying any associated registration or licence fees and maintaining any licences, registrations or consents. The University will use its reasonable endeavours to support students in meeting fitness to practise criteria but accepts no responsibility in the event that a student is declared not fit for practise.

Additional standards of behaviour may also be required of students studying for a qualification that is accredited or recognised by a PRSB for the purposes of a form of registration with that body.

The Fitness to Practise procedure applies to Degree Programmes that include, or lead to, a professional qualification or confer practitioner status. Concerns about the professional unsuitability of students will be dealt with under this procedure. In addition, if through the operation of the procedure in the Student Code of Conduct a student is found to have committed misconduct, this might constitute a ground for taking action under the Fitness to Practise Procedure.

We may be obliged to share student information with relevant professional, statutory or regulatory bodies.

10. Placements

Some placements may be a compulsory part of your Degree Programme and you may need to complete certain attendance, or specialist requirements to achieve the learning outcomes of your Degree Programme. Other placement opportunities may be optional, and, in some circumstances, you may be responsible for locating and applying for a placement. Certain placement arrangements will require you to enter into a separate placement agreement with your placement provider and/or the University covering areas such as confidentiality, intellectual property and the scope of your placement. Students on placement will be subject to the Student Code of Conduct and associated procedures of the placement provider. Please see the Student Code of Conduct for further information.

11. Fees and Finance

Fees and Payment Arrangements

It is very important that you read the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees as relevant to your Degree Programme. These regulations are the key financial policies and procedures that you agree to abide by at the University, so it is essential that you familiarise yourself with them. You will find extensive guidance for students on a wide range of issues relating to the payment of fees and deposits (if applicable) on our Finance website.

For the duration of your studies on the Degree Programme, you will pay your tuition fees to the University. The ultimate obligation for paying your tuition fees, remains with you, regardless of other arrangements you have in place, such as sponsorship or student loans.

It's important that you make suitable arrangements for the payment of your fees. We will try to support you and direct you to appropriate sources of help should you experience financial difficulties but, ultimately, we'll expect you to plan well and pay on time. Occasionally, we need to apply sanctions for non-payment of tuition fees. Please read this section alongside our Regulations for the Payment of University Fees.

Tuition Fees

Your tuition fee for your Degree Programme will be set out within the Offer Letter and Key Facts document that accompanies your Offer.

Please note that unless the Key Facts document states otherwise, your tuition fee does not cover those costs or charges listed in the Additional Costs section below.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding your Degree Programme tuition fees, please contact Student Billings on 0161 247 2937.

Tuition fees for the Degree Programme are set by the University.

As an overseas paying students, you will continue to pay the same annual fee set out in your Offer Letter and Key Facts document for the duration of your Degree Programme, providing there are no Degree Programme transfers or changes to the original study mode, and progression through the Degree Programme is within the normal timeframe. Should students need to suspend studies or repeat any part of the Degree Programme, a higher fee structure may also apply. This will be notified to you at the time of any such transfer, change, suspension or repetition of any part of your Degree Programme.

Manchester Met students on an exchange or work placement year abroad may be eligible for reduced tuition fees depending on the length of time spent abroad. Please refer to Tuition and Other Course Fees for further information on fees for students on a period of study or work abroad.

Additional Costs

Unless your Key Facts document states otherwise, your tuition fee does not include any charges for: third party examinations; University re-sits; professional body fees; disclosure or barring or occupational health checks; living expenses (including, where relevant, the cost of any accommodation provided by the University); travelling expenses; equipment; conference attendance fees; trips or visits; or any other miscellaneous expenses that you are likely to incur to complete your Degree Programme (such as photocopying or external internet access). If there are any compulsory additional costs associated with your specific Degree Programme, they will be indicated within your Key Facts document.

Fees and Suspension or Withdrawal

You may be required to pay a proportion or all of your fees if you withdraw or suspend from your studies. For more information on how we calculate fee responsibility or refunds, please see the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees. Please note that withdrawing from, or suspending your studies, may also have implications for your agreement with the any financial support you may be receiving or due to receive.

Sponsored Students

You are personally responsible for paying your tuition fees, including if you are sponsored by a third party and they do not pay your fees as planned.

Recognition of Prior Learning

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) claims for non- Manchester Met credit transfers are subject to a reduced tuition fee based on the number of credits claimed. Please refer to Tuition and Other Course Fees for confirmation of the current amount payable per course unit. The RPL fee is reviewed annually and published prior to the commencement of each academic year. All RPL fees are non-refundable.

If you are considering submitting a claim for RPL you should refer to the University's Recognition of Prior Learning guidance to ensure you understand the purpose and requirements of the process. You may only submit an RPL claim following receipt of an offer of a place on your Degree Programme.

To identify whether an RPL claim is appropriate for you, it may help to find out about the content and structure of the Degree Programme you are enrolling on, to see if it corresponds to the prior learning you have undertaken. This information is available from the Admissions Tutor or Programme Leader. The Student Hub will be able to help you with contact details for these members of staff.

For most Manchester Met Degree Programmes the maximum amount of credit you may be exempted from is 50% of the award you are aiming for. There are a few exceptions to this tariff and details are available in the RPL Policy. RPL can only be claimed against 'taught' course units, which does not include your dissertation or independent study project. If you decide to submit an RPL claim, the University will allocate an academic advisor with relevant subject/ programme expertise, who will support you with your claim. You should make contact with your advisor as soon as possible. A claim should be submitted to the University using the RPL Claim Form. This form contains all the information that the University will need to assess your claim.

Support Packages, Bursaries, Discounts and Awards

The University offers a range of support packages and bursaries for students. The University's available financial support packages, bursaries, scholarships, discounts and awards are subject to change from year to year and may not be available in future years if you defer. The University reviews all Manchester Met awards, discounts, and scholarships annually, and may withdraw future provision at the end of an academic year or make changes to the value or terms and conditions of offer. This means that there may be other students studying in different cohorts of a Degree Programme that can access different packages or benefits. Please refer to Scholarships and

Bursaries for further information regarding schemes offered from time to time and the associated terms and conditions.

Financial Difficulties and Potential Consequences of Non-Payment

If you have any questions or concerns regarding payment of your tuition fees, please contact the Finance Service Centre on 0161 247 1852.

As you are studying at Manchester Metropolitan University on a student visa, please be aware that non-payment of your tuition fees is a direct breach of UKVI regulations and may result in your visa being brought to a close. If you are experiencing any financial difficulty, please contact the Finance Service Centre.

Please note that, ultimately, you may not be able to continue with your studies should you fail to pay your tuition fees. You must make sure that you pay your tuition fees, and any other applicable tuition costs or charges, on time otherwise the University may be entitled to take certain steps against you including imposing sanctions (as set out within the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees). These include, but are not limited to, restricting access to services as well as graduation bookings, withholding the degree certificate and/or taking action to legally recover any debts. The University may also end the Contract with you in accordance with Section A14 of these Terms if you do not pay your tuition fees by a specified date.

For a fuller list of the actions we may take, please read the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees. If you find yourself in financial difficulty during your studies, please contact Manchester Met's Student Financial Support team, the Finance Service Centre or the Students' Union Advice Centre.

Equipment and Loans

Unless otherwise specified within your Key Facts document, you are responsible for providing all equipment required for your Degree Programme. Please take good care of any equipment provided or loaned to you by the University. There may be separate terms and conditions for any loan or provision of equipment. You may need to pay for a repair or a replacement if equipment is damaged or lost/stolen. Further information will be given when we provide or loan such equipment to you.

12. Changes to Degree Programme Provision or Your Contract and How This May Affect You

Whilst the University will always try to minimise making any changes to the Contract under these Terms (including changes to your Degree Programme), there may be times where changes are needed. This Section A12 describes the circumstances when we can make changes, as well as providing you with further information about when we may look to make such changes.

Changes to Your Contract

The University may, from time to time, need to make changes to your Contract, including to the rules and regulations referenced within it. Changes will normally take effect at the start of the next academic year.

Sometimes, it may be necessary to make changes during an academic year where the University reasonably considers the changes to be in the best interests of its students, or otherwise necessary to meet regulatory or industry best practice as may be notified to you in line with our change procedure.

The circumstances that we describe below are not the only ones that may arise during your studies with us, but they will give you some context as to when we may need to amend the Contract (including your Degree Programme).

Changes After this Contract Takes Effect

Where we need to make changes to the Contract and/or the Degree Programme after this Contract takes effect (which is after you have Progressed onto your Degree Programme), we will, in each case, assess the potential impact of any such change on the Contract and our students and will follow the principles set out in this Section A12. The University is always looking to improve and enhance students' experience with us, and we will engage with students throughout their studies, as well as engaging with our teaching staff, and will actively seek feedback from these groups about how we can improve our service delivery to our students.

Changes to Your Degree Programme or its Delivery

Changes To Pre-Contract Information

Our printed prospectus and supporting marketing materials are published well in advance of the start of an academic year and therefore the online prospectus provides the more detailed and up-to-date information on our Degree Programmes. Please check the online prospectus information again before accepting your offer of a place. Information that we may have given to you at the time you were researching and making an application for the Degree Programme may have changed by the time we send out our Offer Letter. The Offer Letter, Key Facts and this Important Information for Offer Holders document sets out the core information that we consider you will require to make an informed decision whether to accept your offer. Please read these documents carefully before you accept.

The University will use all reasonable endeavours to deliver your Degree Programme in accordance with the descriptions applied to it in the Key Facts for the academic year referred to in your Key Facts document. However, the University is entitled to make reasonable changes such as to ensure the University delivers the best quality of educational experience to you.

Some examples of these changes include:

- Keeping the Degree Programme content and delivery up-to-date and relevant. We may need to implement technical adjustments and/ or improvements, for example: to reflect developments in academic teaching, research and/or professional standards/ requirements; to address any external examiner feedback received as part of their annual reports and/or results from our regular student feedback sessions. To set out further examples, we may make adjustments to aspects of the curriculum – to ensure that this is current and reflects developments in the subject area; the methods of assessment, assessment weightings, and the word length of individual assignments; and adjustments to the learning outcomes and how these are assessed;
- Changes as a result of a Degree Programme review. It is standard practice for the University to undertake a formal review of all of its taught provision in line with national, professional body and regulatory requirements. The aim of each review is to ensure, on a periodic basis, that the design, academic standards and quality of learning opportunities of existing programmes remain appropriate to the awards to which they lead, and are informed by reference to institutional regulations and policies, national benchmarks and relevant professional and employment demands. Degree Programme review is normally carried out at 6-yearly intervals, but can take place at a more frequent interval where required. Degree Programme review may result in certain changes to a Degree Programme of study. These changes will be made to enhance the quality of provision we provide to students;

- Changes for the maintenance of academic standards and quality assurance;
- To reflect changes in relevant laws, statutory, regulatory and/or professional body requirements (or those of placement providers) and/or sector regulation or best practice;
- To implement technical or procedural changes to our IT systems or virtual learning environment;
- To reflect withdrawal of or a change to any relevant accreditation;
- Reviewing and refreshing optional modules. As indicated within our online prospectus the optional modules listed are indicative and may be subject to change. We do not guarantee that an optional course unit will always run in any given academic year as options may be dependent on varying factors such as the external and industry environment, current trends in research, student choice, numbers and staff expertise;
- Altering the location of the Degree Programme. For example, following campus consolidation to allow the University to provide the best facilities and academic provision for its students;
- Changes to your mode and frequency of study including but not limited to moving between face to face and virtual provision where reasonably required.

In making any such changes, the University will aim to keep the changes to the minimum necessary to achieve the required quality of experience and will usually notify (depending on the nature and materiality of the change) affected students (as applicable) about changes that are required.

In respect of material changes, we will inform the affected students if we implement the change(s). If our implementation of the change(s) causes you detriment or hardship we will, if appropriate, work with you to try to reduce the adverse effect on you. Some examples of a material change include:

- A change of award or Degree Programme title; or
- A change to the availability of, or discontinuation, of a core course unit.

We will not usually notify you about minor changes. Minor changes may include the following (please note, this is a non-exhaustive list):

- Reasonable changes to the timetable for delivery of your Degree Programme;
- Reasonable changes to the number of classes/ lectures and other teaching activity relating to the Degree Programme;
- Reasonable changes to the way we make IT and Library services available to you;
- Reasonable changes to the methods by which the Degree Programme is delivered and/or assessed;
- Reasonable variations to the content and syllabus of the Degree Programme;
- Changes to the location of your Degree Programme teaching facilities, provided these are within the same campus and/or provided they are of equivalent quality as those advertised in our literature;
- Additions and/or withdrawals of certain non-core modules on your Degree Programme;

- Changes or modifications to optional overseas excursions/study trips;
- Changes to reading lists to deal with changes in the relevant subject area relating to your Degree Programme to ensure the same remains as up to date as possible;
- Changes to pastoral services provided to students;
- Procedural changes and/or reasonable changes to our Key Contract Documents that help improve the same to your benefit.

Withdrawal Merging Or Discontinuation Of Degree Programmes

We will endeavour to run the Degree Programmes we have made offers for, however, there are occasions where we may need to suspend, discontinue or withdraw a Degree Programme. This may be for low student numbers as set out below, but may also include circumstances such as where there is a change to accreditation or professional, statutory or regulatory body (PRSB) requirements, where there is a change to the external environment making delivery unviable or where academic or PRSB approval has not been achieved. There may also be circumstances where we need to merge or combine Degree Programmes or units of study if such action is reasonably considered to be necessary by the University in the context of its wider purposes.

Before You Accept Our Offer

Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holder document sets out the circumstances in which the University can make changes to the Contract, Pathway Programme and/or Degree Programme before you have accepted your Offer.

Once You Have Accepted Your Offer

Part 1 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document describes the circumstances in which the University can make changes to the Contract, Pathway Programme and/or the Degree Programme after you have accepted your Offer but before you have Progressed onto your Degree Programme.

Changes Outside Our Control

Sometimes, circumstances may arise which are beyond the control of the University which result in changes to your Degree Programme or your Contract. Examples (without limitation) of such circumstances include:

- Industrial action by University staff or third parties;
- The unanticipated departure of key members of University staff or unavoidable specialist staff absence;
- Acts or threatened acts of terrorism or a security threat;
- Damage or interruption to buildings, facilities or equipment;
- Severe weather conditions;
- The acts of any governmental or local authority (including but not limited to government or local authority imposed lockdowns or forced closures of the University campus or its facilities); or
- Where the numbers recruited to a Degree Programme are so low that it is not possible to deliver an appropriate quality of education or affect the viability to run the Degree Programme at a planned entry point.

Changes and Your Options

If the University changes your Degree Programme or Contract in a fundamental way and you are not satisfied with the changes, you will be offered the opportunity to withdraw from the Degree Programme and, if required, reasonable support to transfer to another provider. It should be noted that this is without prejudice to your legal right of cancellation and to any other remedy which you would be entitled by law to seek.

13. Intellectual Property

Study Materials

Where downloadable study materials accompany your Degree Programme, these study materials will be made available to you. The University and/or its licensors, remain the owner of the intellectual property in your Degree Programme, the study materials and any content of your Degree Programme. As long as you pay your tuition fees to the University when due, we provide you with a personal licence to use the study materials and Degree Programme content for the sole purpose of studying for your Degree Programme. You must not use the study materials or Degree Programme content for any other purpose; if you do, this will infringe the University's intellectual property rights and/or those of its licensors.

You may not modify, re-publish, sub-licence, sell, upload, transmit, make available, or disseminate in any way any of the study materials or Degree Programme content we have provided to you. You may not modify, merge, translate, disassemble, decompile, recompile or reverse engineer any software forming part of the virtual learning environment, Degree Programme content or the study materials or create derivative works based on the whole of or any part, or which incorporate, the study materials or Degree Programme content. The University may withdraw use of any particular study materials or Degree Programme content at any time where reasonably required.

Student Intellectual Property

- You generate IPR which builds upon existing IPR generated by, or is jointly invented with University employees or associates, in which case you will be required to assign such IPR to the University and in respect of revenue generated by that IPR, you may be entitled to apportioned income; or
- You are also an employee of the University and developed the IPR in your capacity as an employee.

You will find a lot more information in our Intellectual Property Policy.

14. How We May End Our Contract

We may end the Contract by giving you notice in the circumstances we have set out below. The length of the notice we will give to you will depend on why we need to end the Contract and will be determined in line with any relevant University policies or procedures. In serious circumstances, we may have the right to end the Contract with immediate effect and we will tell you when this is the case. We may end the Contract where:

Such suspension may be immediate pending the gathering of further information where we reasonably consider that your behaviour presents a material risk to others or yourself. Your suspension date will be determined by the last date of engagement with your Degree Programme in line with the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees. You may remain responsible for paying your tuition fees and any accommodation fees during any period of suspension.

Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document sets out further information on the services we agreed to provide under your Contract. Other Services

Part 2 of this Important Information for Offer Holders document provides other helpful information about what other services and facilities may be available to you when studying on your Degree

Programme with the University. These do not, however, represent services that we provide to you under this Contract, and therefore are not a term of your Contract with the University.

Other, non-educational services provided by the University to you, for example residential accommodation and sports centre membership, amount to separate and distinct contracts and are therefore subject to separate contractual terms. You may also enter into separate contractual arrangements with other third parties such as a sponsor, your employer e.g., the NHS if you are on certain professional Degree Programmes.

17. Our Liability to You

If we fail to comply with this Contract we may, in certain circumstances, be responsible for loss or damage you suffer that is a foreseeable result of our breach of this Contract or our negligence, but we are not responsible for any loss or damage that is not foreseeable. Loss or damage is foreseeable if they were an obvious consequence of our breach or if they were contemplated by you and us at the time we entered into this Contract.

We cannot accept responsibility and we will not be liable to you for:

- Any damage to your property (e.g. personal equipment such as mobiles, tablets and laptops);
- Work submitted for assessment that is not returned;
- Personal injury or death except in so far as it is caused by our negligence;
- Loss of opportunity and loss of income or profit, however arising.
- We do not exclude, or limit in any way, our liability for:
- Death or personal injury caused by our negligence or the negligence of our employees, agents or subcontractors;
- Fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation; or

18. Events Outside Our Control

We will not be liable or responsible for any failure to perform, or delay in performance of, any of our obligations under these Terms that is caused by an 'Event Outside Our Control'.

An Event Outside Our Control means any act or event beyond our reasonable control including but not limited to:

- The acts of any governmental or local authority.

If an Event Outside Our Control takes place that affects the performance of our obligations under the Contract we will contact you as soon as reasonably possible to notify you. Our obligations under these Terms will be suspended unless any part of them is able to be performed irrespective of the Event Outside Our Control, and the time in which we are required to comply with our obligations (or any part of them) will be extended for the duration of the Event Outside Our Control.

Should an Event Outside Our Control interfere with our ability to deliver your Degree Programme, we will use reasonable endeavours to minimise the disruption caused to you.

19. Other Important Information

Complaints

The University recognises there may be occasions where students wish to raise legitimate complaints relating to their Degree Programme, or the facilities and services provided by the University. It is important that both students and staff know that such complaints will be dealt with seriously and transparently, and without fear of recrimination. To ensure that this happens, the University has in place a Student Complaints Procedure, which details procedures and parameters for making a complaint, alongside what action may be taken in response to complaints.

If, having exhausted all stages of the University's internal complaints procedure (or other relevant internal procedure), a student considers that the University has failed to consider and respond to their complaint appropriately, the student can refer their complaint to the Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education, which provides an independent scheme for the review of eligible student complaints.

You may be able to seek advice from the Students' Union Advice Centre and/or the Citizens' Advice Bureau.

20. General

How We're Regulated

The Manchester Metropolitan University is regulated by the Office for Students (OfS). The OfS is the independent regulator of higher education in England. More information on the role of the OfS and its regulatory framework can be found at OfS website.

All higher education providers registered with the OfS must have a Student Protection Plan in place. The Student Protection Plan sets out what students can expect to happen should a course, campus, or institution close. Our current Student Protection Plan can be accessed here Student Protection Plan. Where there is any conflict between these Terms and the Student Protection Plan, the Student Protection Plan will take priority in considering any issue relevant to it.

We may transfer our rights and obligations under these Terms to another organisation, and we will always notify you in writing if this happens, but this will not affect your rights or our obligations under these Terms.

This Contract is between you and us. No other person shall have any rights to enforce any of its terms. The receipt of your Degree Programme is personal to you and you may not transfer your rights to access the Degree Programme to any other person.

Each of the paragraphs of these Terms operates separately. If any court or relevant authority decides that any of them are unlawful, the remaining paragraphs will remain in full force and effect.

If we fail to insist that you perform any of your obligations under these Terms, or if we do not enforce our rights against you, or if we delay in doing so, that will not mean that we have waived our rights against you and will not mean that you do not have to comply with those obligations.

Any notices or information sent to the last email and/or postal address provided by you to us will be deemed to have been properly given.

Nothing within the Contract shall be construed as amending the University's constitutional Instruments, Articles or associated constitutional documents. Our Contract shall be governed by English law.

You and we both agree that wherever you live you can bring claims against the University in the English courts. If you live in Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland, you can also bring claims against the University in the courts or the country you live in. We can claim against you in the country you live in.

Section B: Key Policies and Procedures

1. Student Code of Conduct

Manchester Met is committed to providing a supportive environment in order to safeguard the quality of student experience and to give all of our students the best chance of success. The Student Code of Conduct also outlines procedures and sanctions for dealing with behaviour classed as misconduct. We may terminate and/or suspend the Contract where you do not comply with this Student Code of Conduct. Please see Section A6.

2. Student Complaints Procedure

Manchester Met recognises there may be occasions where students wish to raise legitimate complaints relating to their Degree Programme, or the facilities and services provided by the University. To ensure that complaints are dealt with transparently, and without fear of recrimination, the University has in place a Student Complaints Procedure which details procedures and parameters for making a complaint, alongside what action may be taken in response. Please see Section A19 of the Terms for further information.

3. Fitness to Practise Procedure

Where students are studying on Degree Programmes accredited or overseen by Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies, Manchester Met has a responsibility to safeguard and uphold the professional standards of the professions it serves. The Fitness to Practise Procedure enables the University to maintain these standards, whilst supporting students undertaking professionally accredited qualifications. Please see Section A9 of the Terms for further information.

4. Assessment Regulations

One of the guiding principles of assessment at Manchester Met is that the work of all students can be fairly and objectively evaluated. In order to ensure this, we publish and maintain a set of Assessment Regulations. These Regulations are developed with the involvement of the Students' Union and undergo formal review every year to ensure that they are always up to date.

The Regulations set out the rules and procedures that determine your final classification, including:

- How marks for each module and final degree classification are calculated;
- Pass marks for Degree Programmes;
- The number of credits required to progress to each level of study;
- Requirements and practicalities in relation to reassessment.

5. Academic Misconduct and Exam Regulations

- In order to safeguard our academic standards and the integrity of our awards, the University has in place an Academic Misconduct Policy for dealing with suspected misconduct. This policy details types of misconduct – such as plagiarism or the purchase of work from 'essay mills' – how suspected offences are investigated, and the penalties that can be applied. The policy also details students' rights of appeal in cases relating to academic misconduct.

The policy also details students' rights of appeal in cases relating to academic misconduct. Please see the link in Section 6 below for further information.

Exam Regulations can be found within the Assessment Regulations.

6. Academic Appeals

Manchester Met has in place a range of policies and procedures to ensure that the final marks awarded to students are fair, equitable and accurately reflect the quality of work submitted. In very rare circumstances – where a material irregularity has occurred during the conduct of assessment – there may be a basis for submitting an Academic Appeal.

Academic Appeals can only be submitted in the circumstances outlined above and cannot be used for challenging the academic judgement of Assessment Boards.

7. Evidenced Extensions

Manchester Met recognises that there may be occasions where illness or difficult life events occur outside of a student's control, and that these can have a detrimental impact on performance in assessed work. The University has an Assessment Extensions Procedure to handle such cases, which outlines the type of events or circumstances that are considered as grounds for an extension, and what students need to do to apply for an evidenced extension.

8. Fitness to Study Procedure

The Fitness to Study procedure is intended to inform and guide the University's response to situations where there are concerns that a student is not well enough to study, including situations where a student is unaware that they are not well enough to study. The procedure is intended to be supportive. The focus at all stages is to provide the infrastructure to support the student to succeed on their Degree Programme. This may include suspension of study until such time as the student is well enough to complete successfully. There will be however, a small number of cases where students do not engage with, or are unable to agree with, the support or adjustments that the University considers to be reasonable to enable the student to satisfactorily continue. In these rare circumstances, the University may no longer consider it feasible for the student to continue their studies. In such cases students may need to be suspended or required to withdraw from studies.

9. Respect at Work and Study Policy

The University is proud of its diverse community of students, staff, and visitors. All members of this community are responsible for ensuring they behave in a way which supports the University commitment to:

- Promote a safe, supportive, and inclusive environment, where everyone is treated with dignity and respect, free from any form of inappropriate or unacceptable behaviour;
- Ensure that all members of the University community are protected from incidents of harassment, sexual misconduct, bullying and/or victimisation

While the principles of this policy apply to students as members of the University community, particularly in respect of how they can expect to be treated by staff and visitors, issues around student behaviours are specifically covered by the Student Code of Conduct and Student Complaints Procedure. They also have access to the Report +Support online platform. This platform enables students to report incidents of hate crime, sexual assault or sexual harassment, and to request support.

Further information can be found in the Respect at Work and Study Policy.

Section C: Finance

1. Regulations for the Payment of University Fees

You will find extensive guidance for students on a wide range of issues relating to the payment of fees and deposits (if applicable) on our Finance website.

Attending university is a significant financial commitment, and a key part of this is the payment of your Degree Programme fees. Please note that ultimately, you may not be able to continue with your studies should you fail to pay your Degree Programme fees. You must make sure that you pay your Degree Programme fees and any other applicable costs or charges on time otherwise the University may be entitled to take certain steps against you including terminating its Contract with you and taking sanctions to legally recover any debts, as detailed in the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees.

Fees can be paid by a variety of options either during your enrolment or online at any time. All students paying their own fees are eligible for an instalment plan which allows you to spread the cost of your tuition fees. Please refer to Paying University Fees for further information. If you experience any difficulties, you should contact the Finance Service Centre who will support you in this process.

You may be required to pay a proportion or all of your fees if you withdraw or suspend from your studies. For more information on how we calculate fee responsibility or refunds, please see the Regulations for the Payment of University Fees on our Finance website.
